

Biodata: Ayad Kamalvand & Mohammad Javad Mohammadi

Ayad Kamalvand is a PhD student in Applied Linguistics at Ilam University, Iran. He is also an EFL teacher in the Ministry of Education. His major research interests are Social Semiotics and Second language Acquisition. He has published papers in some journals including the Journal of Ageing Studies, Visual Studies, TechTrends, TESL-EJ, and Asian Journal of Social Sciences & Humanities.

Mohammad Javad Mohammadi, PhD in Applied Linguistics from Allameh Tabataba'i University, serves as a lecturer at Farhangian University in Isfahan. His scholarly pursuits primarily focus on Discourse Analysis and Second Language Acquisition (SLA). Mohammadi has made significant contributions to the field through the publication of several books and the presentation of numerous articles at both national and international conferences.