

Biodata: Deisyi Anna Batunan, Yazid Basthomi, Khusnul Khotimah & David Imamyartha

Deisyi Anna Batunan is a faculty member in the Department of English Education, Universitas Negeri Manado, Indonesia and currently a doctorate student in English Language Education at Universitas Negeri Malang, Indonesia. Her current research interests include intercultural communication and teacher professional development.

Yazid Basthomi is a Professor of Applied Linguistics with the Department of English, Faculty of Letters, Universitas Negeri Malang, Indonesia. During his doctoral studies, he was a Fulbright scholar at the ELI, University of Michigan. Having interests in genre analysis, intercultural education, and digital culture, he is currently coordinator of the publication division of TEFLIN.

Khusnul Khotimah is a faculty member of English Education Department of Universitas Mataram, Indonesia. She is currently doing her doctoral studies in English Language Education in Universitas Negeri Malang, Indonesia. She has been actively involved in national and international (researcher) professional development activities. Her research interests include language teaching methodology, learner and teacher autonomy, intercultural communicative competence, and teacher professional development.

David Imamyartha is a lecturer in the English Education Study Program, Faculty of Education, Universitas Jember. He has published research articles on Content and Language Integrated Learning (CLIL), collaborative reading, academic emotions, teacher professional development, and collaborative mobile learning. He got his Ph.D. in Universitas Negeri Malang, focusing on the actualization of CLIL approach through Ecological Citizenship Pedagogy in EFL class.