Bio-data: Mohammad Kazemian-Sanati & Fatemeh Khonamri

Mohammad Kazemian-Sanati has an MA in Applied Linguistics. Mohammad serves as an associate editor, Editorial Review Board for research & ERIC Liaison of MEXTESOL Journal, and the review board member of several applied linguistics, TEFL, and Education SCOPUS & JCR-ESCI-indexed journals. He has extensive experience teaching English at various proficiency levels, including ESP/EAP courses, both institutionally and academically. His recent published paper has appeared in TESL-EJ Journal. His areas of research interests are language testing and assessment, interfaces of SLA and language testing and assessment, and intercultural studies.

Fatemeh Khonamri is an assistant professor of applied linguistics at University of Mazandaran, Babolsar, Iran. Her recent publications have appeared in TESL-EJ and Language Learning journals. Her areas of research interests are applied linguistics, language testing and assessment, and intercultural studies.