

Biodata: Sarat Kumar Doley

Sarat Kumar Doley is an associate professor in the Department of English at Tezpur University, India. He predominantly teaches courses in English language education at the university. His research interest is in exploring the psychological dimensions of L2 acquisition. He has been studying the effect of attitude and motivation on English as L2 learning at the undergraduate level in India for the last five years. Moreover, he is also working on the effects of language task repetition on English speaking skill.