

Biodata: Faisal Mustafa, Siti Raisha, & Mahlil

Faisal Mustafa graduated from Universitas Syiah Kuala with a Bachelor's degree in English Language Teaching in 2008 and earned a Master's degree in Linguistics from the University of Manchester in 2011. He is currently a lecturer at English Language Teaching Department of Universitas Syiah Kuala and the vice chief editor of the Studies in English Language and Education, an academic journal managed by the Department of English Education at Universitas Syiah Kuala University, Banda Aceh, Indonesia. His research interest covers English language teaching and testing, teacher education and development, linguistics, and instructional technology.

Siti Raisha graduated from State Islamic University of Ar-Raniry with a Bachelor's degree in English Language Teaching in 2012 and earned a Master's degree in English Language Teaching from Universitas Syiah Kuala in 2017. She is currently an undergraduate training coordinator at the Language Center of Universitas Syiah Kuala. Her research interests include English language teaching, sociolinguistics, and educational technology.

Mahlil graduated from Universitas Syiah Kuala with a Bachelor's degree in English Language Teaching in 2010 and earned a Master's degree in TESOL from the University of Canberra, Australia, in 2014. He is currently an ESP lecturer at Politeknik Negeri Lhokseumawe, Aceh, Indonesia. His research interests are English Language Teaching, English for specific purposes, applied linguistics, sociolinguistics, and educational technology.