

Biodata: Attapol Khamkhien & Budsaba Kanoksilapatham

Attapol Khamkhien is an assistant professor at Language Institute, Thammasat University, Thailand. He received his Ph.D. in English Language Teaching and Applied Linguistics from the University of Warwick, UK. His publications and research interests include English for academic purposes, English for specific purposes, corpus linguistics, genre analysis, and vocabulary instruction. He currently serves as an associate editor of Language Education and Acquisition Research Network (LEARN) journal.

Budsaba Kanoksilapatham attained her Ph.D. in Linguistics (concentration: Applied Linguistics) from Georgetown University, USA. As a professor of English at the Faculty of Management Science at Silpakorn University, she embodies a consummate dedication to her vocation. Furthermore, Dr. Kanoksilapatham adorns the post of associate fellow at the Academy of Arts, the Royal Society of Thailand. Her outstanding accomplishments have garnered her an array of coveted accolades, including the titles of "Distinguished Researcher of Silpakorn University" and "TRF Senior Research Scholar in English." Both accolades were graciously bestowed upon her by Her Royal Highness Princess Maha Chaksri Sirindhorn on two occasions.