

Sunisa Inpeng is an English lecturer at the Christian University of Thailand. She recently obtained her master's degree in Language and Intercultural Communication (Language Teaching) from Mahidol University, Thailand. Teaching English through technologies is in her main research field.

Athip Thumvichit is an Associate Professor of Education at the Research Institute for Languages and Cultures of Asia, Mahidol University, where he also serves as Deputy Director of Strategy and Human Resources. He teaches graduate courses in language teaching. His research interests include teacher emotions, individual differences in learning, English-medium instruction, English for specific purposes, teaching languages other than English, and Q methodology. He has published in journals such as TESOL Quarterly, Foreign Language Annals, Teaching and Teacher Education, Journal of English for Academic Purposes, English in Education, Journal of Multilingual and Multicultural Development, and Applied Linguistics Review.

Watcharapol Wiboolyasarin is an Associate Professor at the Research Institute for Languages and Cultures of Asia, Mahidol University, Thailand. With extensive experience teaching Thai as a second/foreign language, his research focuses on educational technology, AI-enhanced language learning, and virtual environments for communicative skill development.

Currently, Dr. Md Kamrul Hasan is working as a professor in the Department of English at United International University, Dhaka, Bangladesh. He received his doctoral degree from Universiti Utara Malaysia, Malaysia, and prior to that, he was awarded Master of Philosophy (M Phil) in ELT from the University of Delhi, where he also earned Bachelor of Arts in English Literature and Master of Arts in Linguistics.

Singhanat Nomnian is a former Thailand TESOL president. He is current a director at Mahidol University International Demonstration School in Thailand.