

Biodata: Yuka Nohira & Aileen Bautista

Yuka Nohira is a junior and senior high school teacher at Far Eastern University (FEU) High School. She graduated Magna Cum Laude from De La Salle University–Manila with a degree in Secondary Education Major in English. Her research interests focus on utilizing corpus-based tools to enhance learners' vocabulary, grammar awareness, and overall language proficiency. She previously served as the 21st Century Literature Subject Head, overseeing curriculum development, lesson planning, and teacher mentoring. Her current work explores literature-based approaches to language instruction.

Aileen Bautista-Del Rosario is an Assistant Professor in the Department of English and Applied Linguistics at De La Salle University-Manila. She holds a Ph.D. in Applied Linguistics from DLSU and Master of Arts in English Language and Literature Teaching at the Ateneo De Manila University. She aspires to specialize in language teacher education, psycholinguistics, and the study of atypical language learners, particularly individuals with Tourette Syndrome. Currently, her research focuses on second language acquisition, communication attitudes, and critical discourse analysis. She is actively involved in interdisciplinary research projects combining linguistics with other fields such as psychology.
