

Biodata: Muhammed Fatih Gökmen

Muhammed Fatih Gökmen is an assistant professor in the Department of English Language Teaching at Siirt University in Turkey. Dr Gökmen received his Bachelor's, Master's, and PhD degrees in English Language Teaching and teaches undergraduate and graduate-level courses in ELT and applied linguistics. His academic work focuses on English language teaching methodology, post-method pedagogy, EFL listening instruction, note-taking strategies, EFL speaking skills, global issues in ELT, and teacher education. His recent research particularly investigates listening comprehension difficulties among EFL learners, the effects of note-taking strategies on listening performance, and conversation-driven language teaching approaches.

