

Biodata: Ahmad Goodarzi, Hiwa Weisi, & Siamak Rahimi

Ahmad Goodarzi is an assistant Professor in Applied Linguistics. His areas of interest include teaching English language skills, CALL, and critical discourse analysis. He is the author of articles in his areas of interest and has presented papers in international conferences too.

Hiwa Weisi is an Associate Professor in Applied linguistics. His area of interest includes discourse analysis, multilingualism, and sociolinguistics. He has written one book in English titled Usage Notes, has translated four books into Persian (one was with the cooperation of Prof. Riazi from Macquarie University and one was published by Multilingual Matters and Dayton University). Hiwa Weisi has written many scholarly articles in the field which have been published in prestigious journals with JCR and Scopus indices. He has presented in many national and international conferences too. Besides, he has supervised many theses and dissertations in Applied Linguistics field.

Siamak Rahimi is an assistant Professor in Applied Linguistics. His areas of interest include teaching English language skills, CALL, and critical discourse analysis. He is the author of articles in his areas of interest and has presented papers in international conferences too.